SPC Clemo has had a lifelong relationship with the military. His father was in the service for almost seventeen years, until settling in Washington state. There, SPC Clemo joined the High School Band and Choir. He performed in a few shows after high school before moving to Los Angeles, California, where he met his wife and began his military career.

PFC Corrodus was born in London, England and raised in Washington, DC, where she attended the Duke Ellington School of the Arts. She has been in the arts all her life. Her goals are to continue to grow in the arts and obtain a fashion design studio. She would like to thank God for ordering her steps and her family for their constant love and support. She also thanks David for his love, acceptance and contagious strength.
